

DOUG STAMM

A native Oregonian, Doug Stamm has been chief executive officer of Meyer Memorial Trust since April 2002. Doug has leadership, fiscal, and administrative responsibilities for the Trust, which has current assets of approximately $600 million and has over its lifetime awarded to organizations in Oregon and Southwest Washington over 6,000 grants and PRIs, with a total exceeding $500 million. In addition to its general purpose grantmaking, the Trust is engaged in three Strategic Action Initiatives: Restoration of the Willamette River Basin; Access to Affordable Housing; and High Quality K-12 Public Education. With Doug's leadership, Meyer Trust has developed a robust Program and Mission Related Investment program, through which the Trust embraces novel investment opportunities to compliment its grant program and further its mission. Doug is a co-chair of the national More for Mission Investing Campaign, founding director of Foundations for a Better Oregon, past president of Grantmakers of Oregon and Southwest Washington, and former co-chair and current advisor to the national PRI Makers Network.

Prior to joining the Trust, Doug worked in private business, nonprofit management, and the law. He held positions as attorney in private practice and several executive positions at NIKE, including global director of public affairs, which included leading the NIKE Foundation.

Doug is a graduate of both Stanford University (BS) and Northwestern School of Law (JD) at Lewis and Clark College. He has served on a number of national and local boards of organizations primarily involved with community building and youth.
